

primate skin training suture

This multi-layered suture pad provides opportunity to train surgical closure of the outer skin of primates.

Product codes:

Reference: VTQ-SUT-PAD-PRI

Product description:

This three-layer suture pad is particularly soft and flexible, perfectly mimicking the characteristics of delicate primate skin.

It is suitable for practicing incisions, sutures and surgical knotting techniques under realistic conditions.

The visual and textural demarcation between skin and subcutaneous tissue also enables intracutaneous suturing.

Our suture pads are reusable, tear-resistant and retain their shape and texture even after repeated use.

Our practical pad holder (L) enables suture pads to be mounted vertically or horizontally, as required.

vertically or horizontally, as required.

Product features:

Dimensions: 15 x 16 cm

Available models

